---

ABOUT US

The Native Rugs is an emerging online platform connecting artisan weavers with interior designers and retail partners across North America.

Rooted in India's weaving communities, our rugs reflect generations of craft and cultural memory.

We work directly with artisan workshops, overseeing design, production, and delivery to ensure quality, transparency, and consistency.

End-to-end logistics managed from artisan workshops to North America, including timelines, documentation, and delivery coordination.

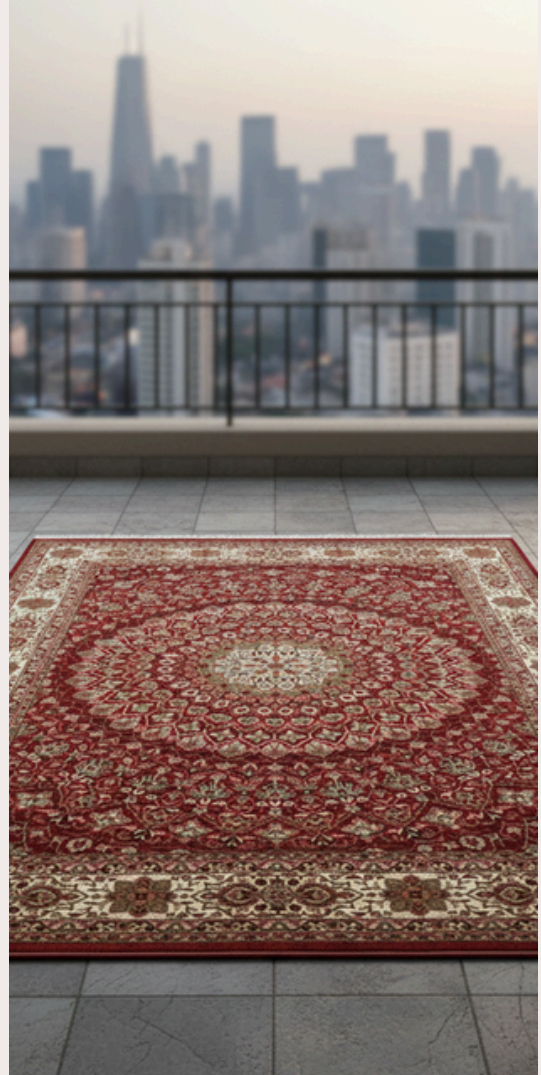

Produced by experienced weaving teams to defined specifications, with consistency in scale and finish while retaining handmade character.

Our rugs use wool, cotton, and silk blends selected for durability, performance, and ease of maintenance, aligned with design intent and usage needs.

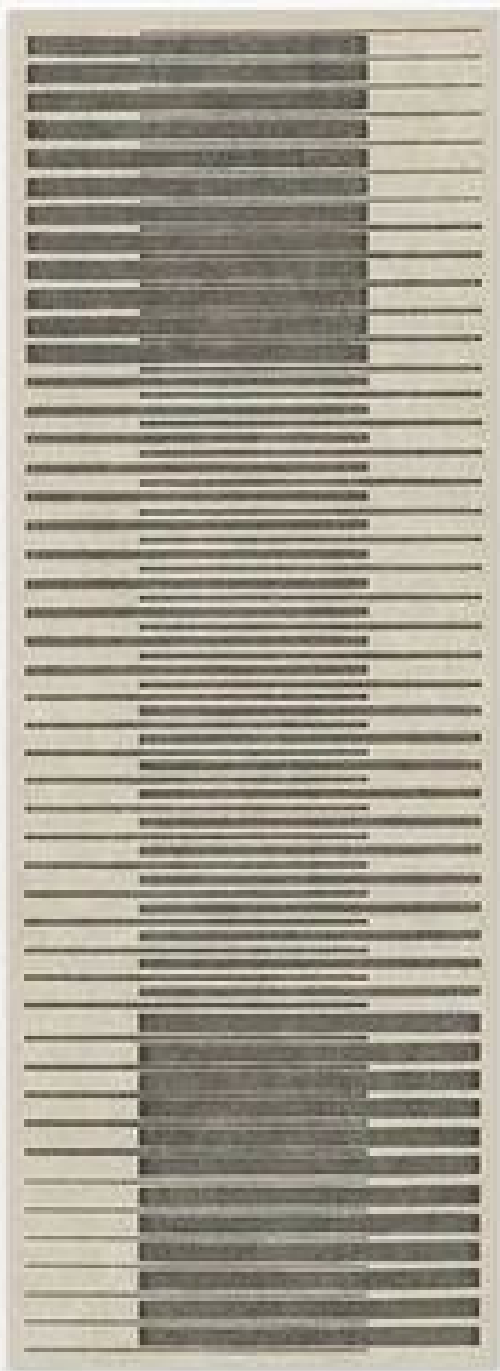

Materials, construction, and final inspection are overseen to ensure accuracy, reliability, and suitability for residential and commercial use.

The background of the entire page is an abstract, textured pattern resembling a hand-knotted rug. It features large, irregular shapes in shades of beige, cream, and light brown, with darker, more saturated areas in deep blue, charcoal grey, and black. The texture is grainy and organic, with some areas appearing more densely knotted than others.

A large, rectangular rug with a complex red and gold pattern is laid out on a light-colored tiled floor. In the background, a city skyline is visible through a railing, with a prominent skyscraper (the Willis Tower) standing out. The scene is captured during the "blue hour" or "golden hour," with soft, warm light. A white rectangular box is overlaid on the bottom right of the image, containing the text for the Heritage Collection.
